CULTURAL DIVERSITY

Was cultural diversity part of your festival/event (Please Tick) If yes, please describe	Yes √	No
We screened films from over 15 countries on diverse cultural subjects. Cultural diversity is always an important factor when programming for Guth Gafa. The festival strives to screen films that portray alternative perspectives, and give insight into different subject matter.
What were the cultural backgrounds of the artists involved?	Filmmakers, cinematographers, editors from different countries and cultures including European countries, Egypt, USA and South Africa
What were the cultural backgrounds of the groups/communities involved?	Our outreach extended to invite and include members of many different sectors – the elderly, the travelling community, refugee groups, etc So the backgrounds include those from Irish and international communities, from many different backgrounds. The local community of Inishowen, plus the visitors we have from the rest of Ireland and Europe.
Describe the ways in which your initiative involved culturally diverse interaction/engagement/ participation	We held post-screening discussions about the issues raised in the films, after almost every screening, and we held public panel discussions and debates about some of the issues in the films.
Did the work reach different national, ethnic or cultural audiences If yes, please describe.	Yes √	No

As above, the films we chose reflected different cultural, national and ethnic experiences and where possible we invited people from the films to speak, and we invited audiences who might relate to the films to attend. The festival has quite a large international attendance, particularly of programmed filmmakers. This year the festival had attendees from France, Germany, USA, Switzerland, Egypt, Finland and Belgium, among others. These, in addition to the local attendees in Donegal and Kells, and those who travel from Ireland and further afield, combine to make the festival attendance very diverse. In addition to this, as outlined above, Guth Gafa works hard to encourage interaction between filmmakers, artists and the general public attending the festival.

Other

Do you have any other information that you would like us to know about your festival/event?

2014 was another very successful year for Guth Gafa, despite a serious cut in funding from some of our major funders (between 25% and 30% cuts). Our continued success is still due in no small part to the support of our festival sponsors, including the Arts Council. We appreciate this support immensely, and hope to continue this relationship in the coming years.

Future Plans

Do you have any information that you would like us to know about your future plans for your festival/ event?

We intend to increase our educational outreach programmes across Ireland and we are partnering with the education Department of NUI Maynooth to find ways to take a programme of Guth Gafa films, with a strong development education focus, on tour to schools and colleges around the country. We also hope to be in a position to increase the number of free workshops and seminars throughout the festival, and continue to programme interesting and culturally diverse documentary films, that may not otherwise reach an Irish audience.

IMPROVEMENTS

Do you have any suggestions to improve this scheme? (If yes, please describe)	Yes	No
I think The Arts Council need to find a mechanism to allow smaller festivals (but very well-run and successful ones) like ours to apply for the higher levels of funding – the €10,000 plus category. So that we have the possibility of expanding and growing.
